Manager's Notes

This is my last communication as General Manager. When I was appointed last June, it was with the understanding that a national search would take place for this position and the search is now in progress.

Serving as KALW's Manager this past year has been, by turns, challenging, difficult, rewarding, painful, enlightening. By way of saying good-bye, herewith a summary of the major events of the past year:

- design and construction planning for new studios and offices at the Philip and Sala Burton Academy with the move scheduled for Fall
- two enormously successful Fund Drives and a profitable and gratifying direct mail campaign
- celebration of KALW's 55th birthday with a party for major donors at the California Academy of Sciences
- receipt of technical equipment from the British Consulate and from Dolby Laboratories worth approximately $25,000
- Task Force recommendations regarding a revitalized mission and governance structure for the station

This latter is of utmost importance for the future and well-being of KALW. For the first time, the station will have its own Board of Directors who will oversee operations, assist in fund raising and serve as watchdog, advocate and advisor in the years to come. It's a giant step forward made possible by the dedication and commitment of an eleven person Task Force.

I'd like to personally thank Judy Goddess, Bill Helgeson, David Jeffrey, Alexandra Kutik, Teresa Nguyen and Enrique Palacios along with Kate Breen, John Covell, Lysa Hale and Vicki McClure. Their assistance and support were the major pluses of the past year.

KALW's next General Manager inherits a vital, strengthened station. I look forward to my continued relationship with KALW via Monday night's City Visions show. To all of you, my best wishes.

UnConventional Convention Coverage in August

From Noon till one the two weeks of the national political conventions, KALW will present this non-partisan, hard-hitting supplement to traditional news coverage. UnConventional Coverage presents grassroots voices unheard from the podiums of either party and digs for the realities that too often remain obscured during these planned-down-to-the-minute events. These programs provide a unique window on key issues related to the Democratic and Republican conventions. The schedule:

Monday August 12 through Friday August 16 —
the Republicans in San Diego

then —

Monday August 26 through Friday August 30 — the Democrats in Chicago.

City Visions Voices Values

This Fall, in conjunction with the Center for Ethics and Social Policy, Berkeley, City Visions will present a series of Monday night programs highlighting the role of values in defining public policy. The values programs will focus on such issues as welfare reform, the role of work, immigration, and the modern family. The first of the series will air Monday, September 16. The topic will be "The Work Ethic: Where Have All the Bootstraps Gone?" Join us at 7:30 pm with your calls and comments. The call in number is (415) 641-5259.

Funny, surprising moments of everyday America are what This American Life is built on.

"When the show's working," says Glass, "We try to design it so that any listener, hearing the beginning of any story, will be unable to leave the radio. He or she will sit in the car, in the driveway, and wait until the story ends."

This American Life airs on KALW on Sundays at 7:00 pm. Each week, Glass chooses a theme: immigrant parents, quitters, people who lead double lives. He does a story or two. And he invites a variety of writers and performers to take a whack at the theme, with stories, monologues, short radio plays, miniature documentaries, "found recordings" and original works for radio.

"To me, radio stories are best when they combine something funny and surprising with some deeper feeling," says Glass. As Chicago magazine described his work, "Glass does stories that are casual and intimate in feeling, that seem almost to start in the middle of the story and are told in unfolding scenes. Sort of like a hipster version of Garrison Keillor."

Glass tells his stories on the air live, rolling in quotes, ambient sound and musical scoring as he goes. It's the sound of live radio, adapted to do the heavy lifting of serious documentary work. From week to week the subject matter and storytelling styles in the show change considerably.

To do a story about the large number of temporary workers the economy now, the producers simply hired two temps, young men who normally do manual labor, and had them prepare stories about their jobs. For a show about poultry, radio legend Dick Orkin created a new episode of his beloved "Chickenman" radio serial, the first full episode created in three decades.

A program about high school plays included a documentary about a suburban school putting on a production of Neil Simon's "Lost in Yonkers," and a long comic memoir from David Sedaris about getting the "drama bug" when he was in high school. As a teenager, mesmerized by the sound of Shakespeare, Sedaris resolved to re-introduce Elizabethan English to daily life in Raleigh, North Carolina. It didn't catch on.

In fact, David Sedaris, one of the most popular commentators on NPR's Morning Edition and author of the book "Barrel Fever," is a regular contributor to This American Life.

"The longest any writer's work can run on NPR is eight minutes," says Glass. "So for years, people like David brought me these great stories that need twenty minutes, or thirty, and there's been no national program that can accomodate them. That's one of the ideas behind this new show. To create a home for these longer stories which now have no place in the public radio system."

Glass is a veteran National Public Radio reporter and producer, probably best known for his documentary stories on Chicago public schools which aired on NPR's All Things Considered and Morning Edition from 1990 through 1995.

Manager's Notes

Dear KALW Listeners,
I have been General Manager for two months now, energized by the good fortune of working at the most dynamic and reliable public radio station in San Francisco.

KALW 91.7 FM provides you with news and information from the far reaching and highly credible news services of NPR, BBC, CBC and PRI, as well as stimulating music, cultural, and educational programs that keep your spirits in good order.

I certainly do hope you like what you are hearing because October 18 to 29 KALW goes live on-the-air for just 12 days with our Fall Fund Drive to ask you to do your part to help pay the costs of the news and entertainment programs you value.

Your individual subscriptions to KALW account for nearly three-quarters of the station's operating budget, and we will need to go to listeners like you for more and more support into the near future as our federal funding from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting continues to decrease at dramatic levels - from 1995 through 1997 KALW's funds from the CPB will have declined by over 25%. That's a shortfall of real money that we are already spending at this moment to bring you the diverse news, information, and music programming you've come to count on from this public radio station.

But why wait until the Fund Drive to do your part? Do it right now. The message is clear and simple: You've been listening to KALW for some time now, and many more of you are using KALW longer than you ever have before - you probably spend more time listening to KALW in a day than reading your morning newspaper - so, re-new your KALW Annual Subscription now or consider an additional contribution to KALW. A basic $40 subscription costs about a dime a day. A scription at a higher level costs just a few pennies more a day, so please do consider an additional contribution.

Your subscription right now or during the Fund Drive is vital in order to make sure KALW meets its financial commitments; so that we can continue to broadcast programs you seek-out when your brain needs to know or you need some music for your soul or you just plain need to listen to good, smart radio. KALW gives you all that, plus more. So, won't you please subscribe or re-subscribe now? Imagine your world without KALW or this program guide (remember, this guide is a benefit of your subscription). You make it happen.

You can call us at 415-695-5740 with your KALW Annual Subscription now.

As mentioned earlier, I am nearing my second month at KALW as General Manager. I most recently come to San Francisco's KALW from public broadcasting station KPBS TV/FM in San Diego where I was an Executive Producer for local radio news, talk, public affairs and cultural programming. I don't miss San Diego's laid-back lifestyle, weather, beaches, and sun all that much. San Francisco's fog, culture, heritage, and energy are good for the soul. And, oh, the restaurants.

As you look through this quarter's KALW Program Guide you will notice some program additions and changes. Weekdays, NPR's All Things Considered now starts at the top of the hour at 3 p.m., while BBC Outlook has moved to earlier in the day at 9:30 a.m. immediately following NPR's Morning Edition and BBC News. On weekends the re-broadcast of Sedge Thomson's West Coast Live now airs Sundays at 1 p.m.; the live broadcast of WCL continues as before Saturday mornings at 10 following Car Talk with Tom & Ray Magliozzi. On Saturday nights Jazz From Lincoln Center with host Ed Bradley returns at 9 p.m. Please check the listings to learn more about these and other new programs, and keep listening to KALW for more of what you've come to like.

Thanks for your time and support!

Artbeat

TUESDAYS 8:30 PM

Artbeat: The Radio Journal of Arts in America begins broadcasting this quarter on Tuesdays at 8:30 pm when there's no San Francisco School board Meeting.

Produced by Elisabeth Perez Luna, former executive producer of "Crossroads," Artbeat is a new national radio magazine on culture in America, ranging from music (classical to rap) and the performing arts (theater, dance, opera) to visual, literary, audio and non traditional forms.

Artbeat will explore and document today's art world in an intelligent, comprehensive and compelling manner, and present to a national radio audience, artists who work in traditional, classical, avant garde, and/or experimental forms. Its scope is as broad as the art world itself, its range is national and is directed to a general audience.

Each half hour program will consist of four highly produced features, one commentary and a national arts calendar.

Worlds Of Music

SATURDAYS 7 PM

Thirteen weeks of the greatest traditional music and living musicians can be heard as Worlds Of Music premieres on KALW. The series of one-hour performance based programs from Public Radio International begins on Saturday October 5 at 7 PM. Yareli Arizmendi (star of "Like Water for Chocolate") is the host.

Worlds Of Music treats music as a universal language spoken in local dialects," says executive producer Eileen Delahunty. "The series takes in the music of the spiritual, the ritual, the sensual and the everyday."

From the exuberant melodies of the Andes to the devotional calls of Islam, Worlds Of Music explores the instruments, rhythms and sonic textures of many cultures. Programs, using live performances, are organized around varying themes, instruments or regions. We hear the trance music of the Sufi, the pulsating beat of a Cuban Santeria ceremony, the mesmerizing tones of the Tuvan throat singers, as well as the ubiquitous fiddle, accordion, and voice. Host Arizmendi provides a background on the music, musicians and featured instruments. Cultures, blended and distinct, are brought to the fore with authentic performances and intelligent writing in each episode.

Some of the world renowned musicians featured in the series are: Santiago Jimenez, famed conjunto accordionist; Irish fiddle-master, Kevin Burke; Pakistani vocalist Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan; Moroccan Gnawa master Hassan Hakmout; Zimbabwe's Black Umfolosi; Grigoris Maninakis of Greece; Tuvan "throat-singers" Huun-Huur-Tu; Cuban percussionist Orlando Puttillo Rios; American Gospel greats The Dixie Hummingbirds; frame drummer Glen Velez; as well as the late multi-instrumentalist Don Cherry.

Quarterly Issues Report For AIDS UPDATE....

A weekly fifteen minute report on the social, political and scientific developments concerning the HIV/AIDS epidemic.
